

Write a Letter of Support

Celebration is better when it's shared and when we do, we create lasting fellowships and support relationships. Indigenous women engaged in the protection of themselves and our planet would love to hear from you on International Women's Day. Collectively, we can write to a broad network of land defenders through RAVEN TRUST.

Your letter to RAVEN TRUST might start like this:

Dear RAVEN TRUST,

I am writing you on International Women's Day to thank you for the work that you are doing to protect our earth and in doing so creating a safer world for Indigenous Women. Today I am reflecting on

---

I join you in your call to address the immediate climate change impacts on Indigenous Women's livelihoods, territories and rights.

*Thank you,
Your Name*

Remember to speak honestly and from your heart. There are no wrong things to say, the importance is to remember the tone of the day, celebrate the accomplishments of Indigenous Women while bearing witness to their realities.
